

A Simulated Stock Trading Activity Hosted by AYLUS

WWW.AYLUS.ORG | The Alliance of Youth Leaders in the United States | 2016

As a platform to promote leadership and innovation, AYLUS encourages members to explore the wonders of stock market. The mission of this activity is to spread financial literacy, and to make learning about investing fun and rewarding. Navigating through the turmoil of stock market often puts human traits to the test. Professional knowledge, strategic thinking, sound judgement, patience, risk-taking, and many other characteristics are all required for one to survive in the rogue waves of the stock market. By participating in a stock trading challenge following the heels of the real market condition, young members could not only have the chance to incubate the skills in a new territory, but most importantly, also to learn valuable lessons that they can use throughout life.

Who: All AYLUS Members

What: Stock Trading Challenge Event

When: Jun 10, 2016 – Oct 10, 2016

Where: <http://www.investopedia.com/simulator/>

Two teams will be formed, namely the A team and the B Team. AYLUS members join one of them by team coordinator's invitation. We will recognize the top performer from each team. During the challenge time, two dedicated Facebook groups will be created to allow players to facilitate team collaboration.

The event coordinators are:

Eric Wu (eric.justin.wu@gmail.com), A Team Captain

Alex Lin (alin2018@bwscampus.com), B Team Captain

Download volunteer hours request form at: aylus.org/documents-and-forms/

Logistic details will be posted later.

/GROUPS/AYLUS