Short Essay on why applying for this position (150-350 words):

As a very passionate AYLUS branch leader, I want to bring my dedication, creativity, and experience with leadership to the national level. I want to expand AYLUS's already huge impact on the community by inspiring and motivating members to lead their own led projects that can blend their creativity and their show their own leadership, integrity, and Innovation to the world. I have done many activities and fundraisers that have brought people closer and helped volunteers in need of opportunities to AYLUS and promoted AYLUS to our entire district, even though we may have just started, we have accumulated 60+ members and became the third biggest club at our school that has 1000+ students. One of the greatest strengths of the Warrington branch is our diversity, the ideas, passions, and the perspectives our members bring fuels more creative events and a greater deeper sense of community, I believe national leadership should support that same inclusivity cross all branches. I am a leader at DECA which is one of the most respected business and entrepreneur organization in the world and I am proud to be a leader within our branch to help our school become one of the best at the convention once every year. With all these experiences I want to help AYLUS's impact on the world and to make this year's national fundraiser to be a huge success. Serving in the national leadership would not only allow me to contribute to the mission of AYLUS, but also help me grow as a leader among other passionate leaders to make the world a better place.
